Nora Sun is a globetrotter, a cultural chameleon, a tool expert, “generation glue”, and a working mom.

Nora was a strategic procurement manager in her “previous life”. To mention the facts: She was responsible for a budget of 160 million euros to set up an office in Shanghai whereby she achieved 20% annual savings with her international team.

For the past 20 years Nora sharpens the awareness for the beauty and richness of interculturality for many professionals and leaders across the industries. She accompanies them on their journey of change and is a sparring partner for their virtual collaboration.

Nora is full of ideas and courage. She loves to try out new things and pull people in her orbit.

In her free time, Nora relaxes in the headstand while practicing yoga and cooking up a storm. Relaxation is essential given a six-person family with a culturally diverse background.
